“ Tammy was one the best friends anyone could ever have. Tammy and I attended the same church, we both got married around the same time and had children around the same time. We would talk on the phone for hours almost every other evening, we babysat for each other, we prayed together, worshipped together, and we laughed together. I hope the sound of her laughter never leaves my memory. I love her so much and I miss her so much already. God has chosen to take his angel home. My life was truly blessed by having Tammy in it. I look forward to seeing her again in heaven. His is not goodbye Tam - this is "I'll see you later

“ I remember one evening when Tammy Kay and I were driving around just listening to music. We were singing and talking and out of nowhere a cat ran out in front of us and Tam tried to miss it but it was dark and the cat tried to turn and run back and it just happened. We hit it. We had each had a couple of beers so I got emotional when we stopped. I ran over to see if the cat was alive and it was but it was hurt. Tammy Kay told me not to touch it because it could have rabies. It was too late because I was already on the ground and attempting to pick up this cat in hopes that we could take it to the emergency clinic and when I did, well, the cat bit me on my arm. Tammy Kay was nervous and told me we needed to go to the ER but not for the cat, for me! I got nervous and started crying again and long story short she took me to the ER and I had to get a shot. It was funny after the fact but every time I see a cat that's been hurt I always think of her telling me not to touch it. I love her! She is truly, by far, the most sincere, honest and beautiful person that I have ever known.
