“ "Mr. Prattes" was my Biology teacher at Samuel Clemens High School in 1978-1979. 40 years later I reflect on the fact that he was the most influential teacher of my educational career. I recently came across a journal I created while in his class. I remembered almost all of the details of that learning. He was passionate about his subject, he had high expectations for his students, and he cared about our learning. He made a difference in my life. ”
