

Tony R. Vicencio

October 15, 1957 - August 15, 2020

October 15, 1957, God placed a warrior here on Earth, Tony R. Vicencio. God then called him back home to the open gates of Heaven on August 15, 2020, at the age of 62. Tony gave 15 years of hard work to the city of San Antonio before his fight began. From there on, his journey of endless appointments became continuous. His battle with kidney disease had led him to 11 years of dialysis. Through it all, he gave it his best punch and continued fighting each day just like he would inside a boxing ring back in the day.

His strength was admired by all those who crossed his path because he went through tough times with no complaints. If one thing is for certain, it's that on his good days, he was ready to hit the casinos and test his luck. A place in which was the only time that called for him to control his wife, Rosa. Or the good days where he'd watch ESPN all day updating his friends and family on what's going on in the sports world. His love for sports never went unnoticed because there was never a time that you could tell him he was wrong about anything that pertained to any game especially not about his teams - Lakers, Raiders and Braves. You were going to be wrong at all times in his eyes. One the many things he looked forward to each year was fantasy football, a time that he enjoyed competition.

Tony will be missed dearly for his sense of humor and the love he gave. He had a special way of showing his loved ones how much they were loved by him, sometimes without having to say it. He gave life lessons, gave words of wisdom and never hesitated to lend out a hand especially when one needed it most.

Tony was a unique kind of man, one that will always be rare to find. He'll always be remembered, missed and above all he will always be loved. He was a devoted father and husband, one of the best grandfathers and an amazing uncle, brother and brother in law. For that, we'll always cherish the memories he left with us.

He is survived by his wife of 42 years, Rosalinda G. Vicencio, son Tony G. Vincencio, daughter in law Lorraine Ortiz, grandchildren Brianna M. Cruz and his beloved Tony B. Vicencio, along with mother in law Esperanza Guzman (Eddie), father in law Juan Guzman, brothers Fred Vicencio (Janie), Joe Vicencio (Martha), sisters Maria Farias, Esther Tello (Juan), Dora Farias, Antonia Jimenez (Raul) and Martha Vicencio along with many nieces and nephews. He is preceded in death by his parents Fred and Antonia Vicencio and Godson Johnny Guzman.

Pallbearers: John Guzman, Jose Farias, Danny Vicencio, Keith Guzman, Nicholas Vicencio and Sergio Vicencio.

To a friend I got to know at the age of 15. On Ozalid street catching the bus for school to South San. we quickly became friends, then best friends, we had each others back at school, we didn't need to join a gang for protection, we had our four hands and four feet. When we lost communication for years I was blessed to meet up again with him. As adults now. We got to talk about the old times and now the new. He talked proudly of the achievements of his Son Tony and his grandson. He talked about his wife Rosa, how it would have been for him without her, the over and above she has done for him with his illness. I will miss you Tony, like you said in our last talk, We will meet again on the other side.
