

Violet Marie Walsh

December 9, 1944 - February 4, 2012

Violet Marie Walsh, 67, of San Antonio, passed away Feb. 4, 2012. She was born to the late Sidney and Daisy Walsh, Dec. 9, 1944 in Yoakum. She went to school at St. Patrick's Academy, Ursuline Academy and graduated from Providence High School in 1962. After junior college, Violet traveled the world as a stewardess for Eastern Airlines. She made many life-long friends along the way. After 25 years with Eastern, Violet returned to San Antonio and cared for her parents. During this time, she worked as a warranty clerk for Cavender Cadillac and served as a Eucharistic minister at St. Patrick's Catholic Church. After retirement, Violet continued to travel because she loved spending time with family and friends or sitting on the beach with a good mystery novel or a biography about the royal family. Violet is survived by her brother Whitney Walsh of Liberty Hill; nieces: Alyson Bowen and husband Kevin, of San Antonio; Amy Cichon, of San Antonio; and Violet Leigh Hutcheson, of San Antonio; and nephews: Carl Walsh, of Austin; and Grant Hutcheson, of San Antonio. Violet was preceded in death by her parents Sidney and Daisy Walsh, and by her sister and brother-in-law Sidney Ann and Bob Cichon. A Memorial Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 12:00 PM on Friday, February 10, 2012 at St. Patricks Catholic Church, 1114 Willow St., San Antonio TX 78208.
