Tribute Wall

NG

“ So sorry for the loss of your loved one. I would like to offer my condolences. Many people look to their family and friends for help in dealing with grief. Their help can be invaluable. There's another source available to us and that's the Bible. At 2 Corinthians 1:3,4 it says that God comforts us in all our trials. He really wants to do that. He is described as the Father of tender mercies and the God of all comfort. One way he comforts us is by the teaching of the resurrection. At Acts 24:15 it says that "there is going to be a resurrection." In the future, God will bring to life all those in the grave to live on this earth that will be transformed into a paradise. The magic of numbers:
Nov. 5, a 5 pound 5 ounce baby girl was born at 5:04 am. Her eyes opened to see a loving angel she would forever call mom and best friend. The mother's birthday was May 4th (5/4). Her mother would be her universe, her husband her world, and her children her heart.
The mother shared her initials with the baby girl, so that they would forever share a bond.
Nov. 5, the first time and last time my eyes will ever see my mother, my angel, my friend, and my universe, as I kiss her goodbye on my 54th birthday. Virginia Katherine. Val Info Katherine

“ To the McDonald Family: Sorry to hear of your loss, May the God of all comfort give you comfort and peace. Please read 2Corinthians 1:2-4 and John 5:28,29 Where Jesus gives us a wonderful hope that is soon to be realized. That is the resurrection hope. What a blessing for your family and mine. If you would like to learn more please go to jw.org and download a free copy of the book” What Can The Bible Teach Us? And read chapter 7” There Will Be A Resurrection. It is our hope that this information will help you and your family now and in the future.

“ Our love and prayers for each and everyone of her children and all her grandchildren during this sad time of their lives, and the many days ahead of them. It isn't easy to lose your mom, but God will get you through, one day at a time. Lean on Him.
