“ he was my best friend, my favorite person in the world im sad but im also glad he got peace. its hard losing someone who was so important to you.this year 2022 nov 4th was hard for me and it was effecting me more this year beacuse i relized what i had was gone. i still remeber the last song we sang together and the last joke he said. i drink chocolate milk when i think about him the most. now i spend my time wisely with family because like one minute they are there and the next they are gone dont take family for granted. i love you pop. until we see eachother again
